Frank Riggs Killed While Calking Water Mains
in Libertyville

THE CAVE IN BURIES HIM

Movement of the Earth Was so Sudden that the Doomed
Man Was Buried in the Boggy Soil

Last Friday evening at 8 o'clock, Frank Riggs, a calker employed by Healy & Son, contractors, who are putting in the iron water mains for the water system now being constructed at Libertyville, was killed while at work in the ditch. The accident occurred on Milwaukee avenue, the main street of the town, midway between the business section and the Chicago & Milwaukee electric depot.

While working overtime and was taking a joint, at the corner of the street, when a part of the bank fell. The movement of the earth was so sudden that the man had no time to get up and so he received the force of the soil upon his head and about his head was broken and death was instantaneous. Other workmen were at hand and immediately lifted him from the trench and summoned a physician, but he was found to be lifeless. His body was at once removed to the Healy undertaking rooms. The victim of the accident was a young man, about twenty-five years of age and single. He came from Martinsburg, Iowa, and has been employed as calker since the work started.

The cause of the accident is thought to be due to the formation of the earth at the spot where it occurred. The place was formerly a sort of a bog and been filled in with much gravel to make road-bed firm. The workmen in making the trench for the water mains dug down through the firm top soil into the soft subsoil, and this being light and loose, allowed the upper half to break and fall.

Attorney Sidney M. Gordon, for the Healy's, took photographs of the ditch to gather evidence in case of a possible law suit.

The verdict of the corner's jury, stated merely that the man had come to death at the post of duty and did not censure.

ENGINEERS SURVEY
FOR 3RD RAIL LINE

One of the old Clarke project of a third-rail electric road from Chicago to Milwaukee are now being surveyed to push their plans to completion.

In connection with these plans engineers of the road will be in Waukegan this week surveying and staking the line of the road. The officials of the road have already visited there and the fact that the engineers are coming is from a reliable source.

The road has already right of way clear into Waukegan, running parallel to and just east of the Northwestern tracks. This ends just before Clayton street is reached and the engineers are to survey a crossing on the "J" just south of Dow's mill. This is right at the city road that runs from the "J" to the docks by the Western coal yards.

The survey of the course is a sure thing and means the pushing of the road's plans. Just what course the road will take after crossing the "J" is not known, but it is said they will either ask right of way up Clayton street or will build around the harbor if they are refused as they have threatened to do. They once said they were to build a road bed in the lake around Waukegan, when they were refused a franchise.

Journal Has Practical Name.

In Anniston, a town in Alabama, there are large iron works, pipe factories and charcoal and coke furnaces. Naturally, there is a good bit of heat there and blasts from the furnaces greet the inhabitants in the morning and wait them to sleep at night. Two papers are published in the town, one of them a morning and the other an evening issue. The aforesaid heat and blasts were probably accountable for the name of the morning paper, which is known as "The Hot Blast," an appropriate designation under the circumstances, although it is true that the policy of the publishers may have had something to do with its christening.

Not liking the Frenchness of "entente cordiale," the Berlin papers have at last found a good German equivalent, viz: Annäherungsbestrebungen.

DWARVES AT SPOT CASH

Waukegan Entertaining Smallest Married Couple in the World.

Waukegan is entertaining for a week the smallest married couple in the world. They are Major and Mrs. N. G. W. Winner, who are exhibiting at the Spot Cash in connection with a sale the store is giving. The little couple have made the business of exhibiting at stores this way their life work and seem quite contented at it. The novelty of having people crowd to see them has long since worn off, especially with Major Winner, who traveled with shows before his marriage.

Major Winner, is slightly the larger of the two. He is 36 inches tall and weighs 42 pounds. He is 38 years old. He wears a No. 2 shoe, but an 8 1/2 cap. He claims to have the largest head of any one in Illinois.

He was born in La Motte, Iowa. He traveled with Ringling Brothers for four seasons and made short trips with other companies. The couple made two trips with circuses since their marriage, but never remained long and started the store exhibitions which they like much better.

Mrs. Winner was born in Ohio, but was raised in Michigan. She is 28 years old and weighs 40 pounds. Her height is 35 inches. Mrs. Winner had never traveled before she married Major Winner and their courtship and marriage was an odd one.

Major Winner heard of her in her home while he was traveling with Ringling Bros. He started a correspondence with her and finally met her just two weeks before their marriage.

WOUNDED BY DRUNKEN MAN

Mrs. Birdella Boothman, Formerly of Waukegan, Victim of Accident

Mrs. S. E. Boothman, nee Miss Birdella Wedge, of Waukegan, was shot and badly wounded at Minneapolis last Friday in an accidental shooting.

Mr. and Mrs. Boothman are said to keep a boarding and rooming house in Minneapolis. Friday or Saturday evening, at a late hour, one of the lodgers came into the residence and demanded repairs in his room of Mrs. Boothman. She is said to have refused to accede to his request and turned her back to him.

The enraged man then, it is alleged, drew a revolver and fired at her, the bullet penetrating the ear and mouth. Mrs. Boothman will surely recover if there are no complications.

She is related to Mrs. Robert Grice, of North Chicago.

DEATH DUE TO AN ACCIDENT

August Pelk Shot and killed By His Brother While Hunting Rabbits.

August Pelk, aged sixteen years, a son of Fred Pelk, of the town of Randall, was shot and killed by his brother, Charles Pelk, late Sunday afternoon near the Pelk home in the town of Randall. Pelk was killed by accidental discharge of a double-shot gun the charge from which entered his right shoulder and pierced the lung, causing his death an hour and a half after the accident had occurred. The accident occurred in the fields a half a mile from the Pelk home.

Three brothers, Charles, August and Fred Pelk, left their home shortly after noon on a hunting expedition and had gone to a field some distance from the house to hunt rabbits. The oldest boy carried a double-barreled shot gun and August walked a head of him. In some manner the gun was discharged. The entire charge from both barrels of the gun entered the right shoulder of the brother and he fell to the ground fatally wounded. The other boys ran to the home of Fred Sherman, a short distance from the scene of the accident, and secured the aid of Mr. Sherman, who carried the injured boy to the Pelk home. Dr. H. C. Darby, of Wilmet, was hurriedly summoned to the house and he arrived a short time before the death of the boy.

RIOTING AT KENOSHA FACTORY

Big Strike Inaugurated at the Allen Tannery Proves to be the Most Serious Labor Trouble in Kenosha in a Decade; No Peace in Sight

The most serious labor trouble known in Kenosha in several years occurred just after eight o'clock Monday morning, when 150 men employed in the yards of the N. R. Allen's Sons Co., tannery went on a strike for an increase in wages to the amount of fifty cents weekly. The men out include all of the men employed in the yards, and it is possible that the big plant may be forced to shut down for an indefinite period and the 1,200 men employed be thrown out of work.

For some time there have been mutterings of discontent among the men employed in the yards to handle the leather from vat to vat, and Monday the trouble crystallized in the lower yard and the men went on a strike. The office was at once notified and asked the police department for aid in preventing the men entering the upper yards. The police arrived late, for the men marched in a body from the lower yard and overpowering the foreman at the upper yards, went in and called out the remainder of the force of yard men. The foreman was roughly handled by the strikers, but it is stated that he was not seriously injured. When the police arrived on the scene all the men in the yards had joined the ranks of the strikers.

The strike which had been carried on in a peaceable manner up to 5 o'clock Monday afternoon, assumed a serious aspect shortly after that hour when a number of the strikers attempted to prevent men who sought to enter the plant to go to work. There was an ugly manner about the strikers, and Deputy Sheriff Barber, who had been sent to the tannery by the sheriff to aid in keeping order, arrested two men and took them to jail charging them with rioting.

In a short time a great crowd had gathered at the jail and Mayor Gorman, C. W. Allen and other managers of the tannery went to the jail and ordered the release of the men. Before this was done, however, the men agreed with the mayor to retire peacefully to their homes. An hour later there was another riot at the tannery. An argument between a foreman and one of the strikers precipitated the trouble and in the melee which followed 250 strikers took part. Armed with clubs and stones they

PAID HEAVY FINES FOR BURNING DOG

Henry Wain, Otto Waltersdorf, Earl Burrett, Frank Fiegle, Alvin Voss and Herman Fiegle, six of the best known young men of the village of Bassett's Station, were arrested Tuesday evening by Deputy Sheriff Barber on complaint of J. H. Karnes, agent to the Kenosha county Humane society. The men were charged with having covered a dog belonging to J. Nolan with turpentine and then setting fire to it. The dog was killed, as it was so terribly burned that it was impossible to save its life.

The men were arraigned before Justice Sturges and all of them pleaded guilty to the charges against them and fines of $15 and costs were assessed in each case. The total value of the life of the dogs as assessed by the justice was $123.84.

When the men were arraigned they admitted that they had planned to tie a can to the dog's tail but after the dog had been captured some member of the crowd had urged the more heroic treatment of turpentine. One of the men had lighted a match in order to better superintend the operation. The lighted match burning his fingers and he attempted to throw it away. The flame caught in the long hair of the dog and in a second he was enveloped in flames. All the boys insisted that they had no plans for the extreme cruelty of burning the dog and that the burning was entirely an accident. The men took the punishment in a cheerful manner and all of them paid the fines. They stated that it was a lesson which they would never forget. The money taken as fines will go to the county school fund.

ALMOST RIOT AT DAIRY CO. PLANT

Mortgage Holders Takes Possession and Action Precipitates Trouble

Policemen, constables, attorneys, stockholders and drivers of milk wagons figured in an exciting time at the plant of the Waukegan Dairy company about 11 o'clock Tuesday morning and for a time it was feared there would be a general rioting. It was generally felt that, but for the presence of the officers, a free-for-all fight would have taken place, in which some of the best known men would have participated.

The trouble started as a result of Attorney J. K. Orvis, for Supervisor George Quentlin, making a descent upon the plant, to take possession of it to satisfy a chattel mortgage he holds for $500, but which the opposition claims is not due for several months.

Mr. Orvis explained the reason he took the step was due to a report that E. J. Heydecker, for other parties, had gone to Chicago to seek to file a petition asking that the concern be put into involuntary bankruptcy.

When Mr. Orvis appeared to take possession of the plant Manager Monehan of the company called upon Officers Tyrrell and Hicks and two constables and they hastened to the plant. Monehan called on A. K. Stearns, attorney for the company.

Mr. Orvis then placed a Mr. Sorensen of Zion City in charge of the plant.

EARTHQUAKE HAZARD

SCARES COMPANIES

Fire insurance companies are divided about Pacific coast business. Many will retire, regarding the earthquake hazard as one they do not care to trifle with, while others announce that they will stay, but only at a material increase in rates. They will insist upon an additional premium for the earthquake hazard and the conflagration hazard, the first having been ignored hitherto, while the charge for the latter has been far from adequate.

It is an interesting fact that the Pacific coast has been taking the lead in the scientific and actual study of the proper charge to be imposed for the conflagration hazard. Professor Whitney, of the University of California, recently prepared a lengthy report on the question of conflagration, taking up also the question of a proper charge for the conflagration hazard. He was asked to elaborate his argument on the latter question before the recent meeting of the Fire Underwriters' Association of the Pacific, and declared that 20 cents was the average rate that would properly measure the hazard of conflagrations in the large cities. Statistics were secured of the cities in the United States that in 1890 had a population of over 200,000, covering the last fifty years. Over these were assessed all conflagration losses at that time, giving $180,000,000, as against a computed premium of $1,026,000,000. This gives 17 1/2 per cent of the premium to pay conflagration losses. From these figures an average rate of 20 cents for the conflagration hazard was deducted. And now San Francisco has knocked out its own figures.

MORTGAGE FOR SIX MILLION

Knickerbocker Ice Company Give Immense Mortgage on Lake Property.

The Knickerbocker Ice Company of Chicago and other places has mortgaged all of its extensive interests in Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin lake property for the tremendous sum of $6,000,000.

A trust deed for this amount was filed in the office of the county recorder, the other parties to the deal being the First Trust and Saving Bank of Chicago, for numerous people and Emilie K. Boist.

The Knickerbocker Ice Company own tremendous amounts of land and water in Grant, Avon and Antioch towns and own most of the acreage around Lakes Zurich, Oconomowoc and Loon.

The mortgage is the largest ever filed here and calls for five percent refunding mortgage bonds. The document is printed and makes up a book of 123 pages, dated February 1906.

STANDARD COURSES

Supt. Gaggin Inaugurates
Uniform Studies For Small Schools

ORIGINATES NEW PLANS

Promotions and Graduations to be Regulated by the County
Supt. of Schools in the Near Future

During the past two years much attention has been given by the county superintendent to the supervision of the work in the small high school of this county. By the small high school is meant those graded schools that do some high school work in connection with the regular grade work; more strictly speaking these schools would be classed as semi-graded schools, as none of them have a teacher for each grade.

It is customary in many counties of the state for the county superintendent to leave the small high school entirely to the supervision of their respective principals, who, as a consequence, are expected to shoulder the entire responsibility and the results of their work, very frequently, never questioned and never tested until it is entirely too late. There at present in Lake county seven or eight of these so-called semi-graded schools in which there is carried from one to three year's high school work. The course of study pursued in each school has been left in nearly every instance to the local principal, with the result that there have existed as many different courses of study as there are schools. This arose from the fact that a local principal in nearly every instance allowed personal preferences for certain subjects to predominate, and with the local board giving him the power to form the course of study suited to his convenience, the results have brought about conditions as we find them.

About a year ago the county superintendent desolved upon a scheme for a closer supervision of the work of these high schools, and to further his purpose he decided to submit to the various school boards having jurisdiction over these schools a standard course, including the minimum work required of the freshman, sophomore and junior classes in order to secure credits for the work done, as in an accredited high school carrying a four year course. This outline embraces both a Latin and a scientific course. By the adoption of this course of work the small high schools of this county would then be working on the same as of work year by year, and there would be that continuity necessary where transfers are made to other schools for the purpose of completing the four year course. After the adoption of an uniform course of work that will provide these schools with the same work year by year, then the county superintendent, by placing the entire system of small high schools under the joint supervision of the local principal and the county superintendent to the extent of regulating promotions and graduations.

In forming a standard course of study for these small high schools in Lake county, the committee did not lose sight of the fact that these schools were necessarily handicapped with reference to laboratory equipment, appliances and facilities for concrete teaching. In order to do efficient work in botany and zoology there should be several compound glasses with one-half and one-sixth inch objectives, and there should be a special laboratory in which to keep culture media for the study of microscopic organisms and for the purpose of propagating bacteria, fungi and various specimens of phanerogamia.

The county superintendent desires to change in some respects the examinations governing promotion and graduation. He believes that the so-called "finals" carry more terror than benefit with them and that if any examination is to be the medium for testing a student's ability, it ought to be very general in its nature, combining both written and oral work.

Heavy Bells in English Churches.
Exeter, England, has long possessed the heaviest ringing peal of bells in the world. The tenor "Grandison" so named after a former bishop of the diocese, has been recast and its weight increased, so that it is now about three tons thirteen hundred weight, or roughly, half a ton heavier than the tenor of St. Paul's.

Draw Your Own Conclusions.

MARION'S BRIGADE

By MAJOR J. H. ROBINSON

CHAPTER XIX.—(Continued.)

"Who comes here?" cried one of the men, while they all assumed hostile attitudes.

"Friends, I hope," replied Henderson. "That's on oath," was the gruff rejoinder.

"I suppose that we might put the same question to you that we have proposed to us," said Forstall.

"Perhaps you might, mister, but as we happen to be the strongest party, we can have it pretty much our own way. I take it," returned one of the party with an insolent voice. "Are you the king's men?"

"If you insist on knowing," said Henderson, boldly, "we are going to join Major Gaine on the Tories."

"I thought so," said one of the men to his comrades. "They appeared to be like king's men from the first."

"Now we have been frank with you, we would like to know whether you are dealing with friends or foes," asked Henderson, laying a hand on his sword.

"We are of the right sort—so make yourselves easy. We're going to join Major Wemyss, who has been enlisting men on the Black River, but is now working up toward the Catawba. When he gets his complement of men he's going to co-operate with Col. Tarleton in driving Marion out of the country."

"That will be a welcome event to all true Loyalists," replied Forstall.

"It will, indeed," replied one of the Tories, "and it is an event which will soon take place."

"They say Marion and his men are ragged, cowardly vagabonds who can't stand a regular charge of disciplined troops," said another.

"Wemyss and Tarleton will soon burst on him like a clap of thunder," added a third.

"Gaine, I understand, is near Britton's Neck," observed Henderson, by way of a feeler.

"About four miles below," was the unhesitating reply, which convinced both Forstall and Henderson that he spoke the truth.

"He's a terrible fellow, but they say he's dead in love, notwithstanding," added the Loyalist. "The girl's a Whig. One of Strickland's gals, up to Britton's Neck. Her father was at the battle of Camden, and was taken prisoner."

"There's love on both sides, I suppose?" continued Frank.

"Not a bit of it; but that don't daunt him. I know very well what he intends to do."

"What do you think?"

"Why, some time he'll send up a detachment of men and march the gal away."

Henderson now piled the Tories with questions, until he had extracted all they knew in relation to the movements of the different predatory bands, and some of the information thus obtained was of considerable importance.

"I wonder," said Forstall, "what will be done with all the rebel prisoners taken at the battle of Camden?"

"Two hundred of 'em are on the way to Charleston, under a guard of ninety British soldiers," replied the Loyalist, who had been most talkative.

Frank's heart beat high with hope and expectation when he heard this announcement, for possibly Mr. Strickland was among the prisoners; if so, there was a strong possibility that something might be done to set him at liberty.

"That is an excellent idea!" exclaimed Forstall. "I dare say they will pass Nelson's Ferry on the way."

"I know they will, for I heard Capt. Ball say so," was the reply.

Our two friends wished them a "good night," and rode forward, glad to shake them off, and gratified by the valuable information they had so unexpectedly obtained.

"Since we parted with those fellows," said Forstall, after they had ridden some distance, "I have thought of a plan by which I might not only benefit our cause generally, if I succeed, but also gratify a desire of my own, of a more private nature. It is to ride boldly toward Camden, and meet the prisoners that are on the way to Charleston."

"But what will insure your personal safety?" said Henderson.

"I will confidently assert, when questioned, that I am going to Camden to join the forces under Cornwallis."

"That may answer your purpose, and it may not; it is a bold venture, and I seriously doubt whether it is practicable."

"I will test its practicability at all events. I will leave you at Britton's Neck, and trust myself to the uncertain chances of success," replied Forstall, in a firm tone.

Having determined on this enterprise, no arguments could divert him from his purpose; and, accordingly, Forstall parted with his friend and turned his horse's head toward Camden. He passed Mr. Strickland's dwelling, and signed as he faded from view.

The incidents of our story now oblige us to leave Frank for a while, and look after Cunningham and his band. Since his last repulse by Capt. Haves he had been busily engaged in recruiting his forces and committing depredations upon the inhabitants about Nelson's Ferry, and all along between the Santee and the Pedee. He had been the most active in distributing printed copies of Lord Cornwallis' last proclamation, and in consequence of it, had received daily additions to his ranks. To see a man coming into camp with a musket upon his shoulder was an event so common that it scarcely attracted attention; therefore on the following morning nobody wondered or exhibited astonishment when a stout and awkward young man stalked into the encampment of the "Bloody Scout." If the newcomers excited any particular attention it was that prompted by curiosity; for his dress was unique, his hair long and tangled, his face decidedly verdant in expression, and his bearing far from dignified. He stalked in among the Loyalists with an old rusty sword hanging by his side; horse pistols of the very largest size were sticking from each pocket of a stained roundabout, and he was industriously gnawing a crust of bread.

He stopped and stared at the horses, saddles, the arms and accoutrements of all kinds, and in fact at everything that met his vision; but during all the time he was eating his eyes he did not cease to gnaw at his crust.

"You seem to be very much interested in what you see here," remarked an officer, addressing the young man.

"I've come up to join," said the interesting youth addressed, taking a large bite from the nearest side of his crust.

Cunningham, attracted by the crowd, at that moment approached the stranger.

"What's your name, my fine lad?" he asked.

"Eldad Tewksbury, at your service—and I've got an all jumpin' appetite. This junk of perversion was a loaf of bread once; but I begun on the south side of it ten minutes ago, and now it looks as if it had been struck by lightning—don't you, kurnel?" answered Eldad, not abashed at all.

"Where are you from?" inquired Cunningham.

"I'm from the neighborhood of Rock Creek—and I've come to join," was the response.

"I dare say you can tell me something about Gen. Marion?" resumed the colonel, quickly.

"He's heard that you're arter him, and he's cut stick for North Carolina; and he's goin' dreadful fast," returned Eldad, triumphantly.

"Good! excellent!" exclaimed Cunningham, rubbing his hands with satisfaction. "Tewksbury, you have brought us agreeable news. Do you think the rumor is perfectly true?"

"I know it is, kurnel; and everybody knows it up our way. They say he's scared e'enmost out of his wits, for he's heard a mighty sight about you and Tarleton."

"We shall have fine times, my lads, now," added the colonel, after reflecting a moment. "We can lay waste the whole country, and we shall soon be numbered by hundreds instead of by dozens, as hitherto. I want you to blaze the news of Marion's retreat about as much as possible; the news will bring us recruits better than anything else."

While Cunningham was speaking, an officer of rank approached, who proved to be Major Gaine.

"I thought I'd ride over and see you, with a few of my fellows," he said, "and learn how you are getting along, or if there's anything new."

"I am glad you have come; we have just received some capital news. The Swamp Fox is retreating towards North Carolina," replied Cunningham.

Eldad Tewksbury having eaten his bread, now began to stroll about the camp, and as he did not seem disposed to answer any more questions, those who had been listening to his conversation and smiling at his simplicity, turned their attention to other matters. Gaine and Cunningham entered a tent and conversed confidentially upon matters of particular interest to both.

"Since Marion has gone, and left us to operate without fear, I see nothing to prevent us from carrying out our former plans in relation to those young women," said the major.

"But when we have caught the birds, where shall we cage them for safe keeping?" inquired Cunningham.

"March them to Blue House (tavern), and let them remain there for the present."

"A good idea, major. The fair rebels shall be quartered there."

"Suppose we put the hour at twelve o'clock, Cunningham?"

"We'll divide our men, and while you go up to Adair's to surprise and capture the gentle Mary, I will do the same agreeable affair for the fair Ruth Strickland," said Gaine.

This subject was discussed in detail for the next half hour by the two officers. When they left the tent they perceived Eldad Tewksbury lying down within a yard of it sleeping soundly.

Cunningham returned to his tent; Eldad Tewksbury arose, rubbed his eyes, and walked away.

"Is there a tavern about these parts?" he asked of the first man he met.

He was informed that the "Blue House" was not far off, and the direction duly indicated. He stalked off, and was seen no more at the encampment of the "Bloody Scout."

CHAPTER XX.

Frank Forstall rode toward Camden with such dispatch that at 10 o'clock precisely he met the prisoners on their way to Charleston. They were, as he had been informed by the Loyalists, strongly guarded. Forstall confessed some slight nervous trepidation as he heard the British soldiers.

"Where are you going, young man?" asked the captain of the guard.

"To Camden, sir, to join the troops under Cornwallis," replied Frank, touching his cap, respectfully. Then he added instantly, "You have a fine lot of rebels here. I wish, captain, they were all secured in this way."

"Two hundred of them, sir, all told. Ain't they guilty looking rascals?" said the captain.

"They don't look as if they could be trusted."

"Where are you from?"

"Britton's Neck, sir," answered Forstall, again touching his cap.

"Is that Marion up on the Santee anywhere now?" asked the other.

"No, sir, he's in full tide of retreat toward North Carolina."

"We all feel pretty tired, and since Marion's Brigade has marched off, I don't feel so much in a hurry about getting to Charleston. Is there a good tavern anywhere near, on the route?"

"Yes; there's the Blue House tavern, where they manage to keep all kinds of refreshments for man and beast."

The prisoners and their escort moved on. It was an interesting moment to our hero. As he contemplated the dejected and wayworn Americans, his heart was moved with pity, not unmixed with indignation. How ardently he wished for a detachment of Marion's Brigade to set them at liberty! How Capt. Nick, with his "jarnal critters" would scatter the guard!

Forstall looked eagerly for Mr. Strickland, and he began to fear he was not among them, when he discovered him near the rear of the cortège. Strickland raised his eyes and they encountered Frank's. Marching by the side of Strickland was a neighbor with whom Forstall was well acquainted. He also recognized our hero, and asked him where he was going.

This was a painful question for him to answer, but he replied firmly that he was on the way to Camden, to enroll himself in the army of Cornwallis.

While Frank was speaking, Mr. Strickland gave him a despicable villain.

"He thinks me a despicable villain," said Frank to himself—and the idea grieved him.

"The enemies of our country will be glad of your services, no doubt," said Strickland, in a melancholy voice.

These words cut Forstall to the quick, for he could not endure the idea of being thought a Tory by Mr. Strickland, even for a moment; but he thought of Ruth, and tried to bear it manfully. He rode forward a mile or two, and taking another road urged his weary horse toward Marion's camp.

"I wonder what's going on now?" said Ben Rowan.

"I cannot inform you; but since the return of Frank Forstall, Henderson and that Job Dawson, the general has been very busy. He's received news in regard to the movements of the Tories, probably," replied James Adair.

"The Quaker fellow puzzles me, pulverize me if he don't," added Ben, emphatically. "He came into camp not long ago looking so much like a regular greeny that I didn't scarcely know him. It's my opinion he's a spy, notwithstanding he's such a fighter when worst comes to worst. I know very well that he saved my life twice; but that don't prevent his being a humbug, after all."

"It was now dark, and the bugles of the brigade summoned all to the parade ground."

"Fall in—tumble in—he alive, boys—there's work afore us," said Capt. Haves.

"Verily, I'm sick of war!" exclaimed Job Dawson, as he mounted his horse, and fell into his accustomed place.

Ben looked at him, but deigned no reply.

"Jones is thrown again," said Higgins, sorrowfully.

"He wants to disgrace the hull American army," rejoined Haves.

Marion now spoke with all the commissioned officers, and they in turn spoke with the others, and very soon the business in contemplation was pretty generally understood.

"Two hundred prisoners at Nelson's Ferry that's got to be retaken," said Haves, riding back to his men after the general had communicated his orders to the officers.

"They're under an escort of nine hundred strong, and there'll be a 'jarnal tussle, no doubt; but we shall be victorious when we straighten up in our might and bust on 'em like a bombshell. Some of our lads have been down to the ferry and found out all the particulars. When we've whipt the rascals and freed the prisoners we've got somethin' else on hand that's rather enterprising than otherwise, which I will tell you more about when I get ready."

"Forward!" cried Marion; and the brigade moved toward Nelson's Ferry in good spirits and eager for an opportunity to test their devotion to liberty.

Professional Language.

A small boy who lives in an inland traffic center has been accustomed to visiting the depots, says a writer in the New York World, and there he watches admiringly the operations of railroad-ing. One day he arranged the chairs in line at home, and persuaded his aunt to play train with him.

"You be engineer and I'll be conductor," he said. "Lend me your watch, and climb into the cab."

Watch in hand, he hurried down the platform.

"Pull out, you red-headed jay!" he called from the other end to the amazed train.

"Why, Willie!" she exclaimed, in horror.

"That's right! Chew the rag!" he retorted. "Pull out. We are five minutes late already."

Willie does not play around the station any more, and is acquiring a less technical vocabulary.

The Lion's Share.

Two brothers, of whom a writer in the Washington Post tells, got on none too well with each other, for reasons which will be plain to all.

"Here," said their mother to the older of them one day, "here is a banana. Divide it with your little brother, and see that he gets the lion's share."

The younger child a few minutes later set up a great howling.

"Mamma," he shrieked, "John hasn't given me any banana!"

"What's this?" inquired the mother, hurrying in.

"Why," explained the older boy, "John don't eat bananas."

What the Allment Was.

A New England statesman was referring to the dry humor of the late Senator Hoar, when he was reminded of the following:

One day Hoar learned that a friend in Worcester who had been thought to have appendicitis was in reality suffering from acute indigestion.

Whereupon the Senator smiled genially.

"Really," said he, "that's good news. I rejoice for my friend that the trouble lies in the table of contents rather than in the appendix."—New York Tribune.

Mark Twain Was Responsive.

A friend wrote to Mark Twain, asking his opinion on a certain matter, and received no reply. He waited a few days, and wrote again.

His second letter was also ignored.

Then he sent a third note, enclosing a sheet of paper and a 2-cent stamp.

By return mail he received a postal card, on which was the following: "Paper and stamp received. Please send envelope."—Boston Herald.

Of course you don't like to be made company of when you go on a visit, but would you stay very long if you were made one of the family?

Flowers for the Gardening Beginner.

To make his flower garden a continual delight, the amateur should study the characteristics of the flowers he grows and see that each serves a purpose. If he loves fragrance, nocturnal affinis, with its abundant star-shaped white flowers, is excellent, and a fragrant novelty which presents a striking contrast to this is nocturnal Sanders, with deep pink, almost red flowers. These, above all, are excellent for borders, planted in front of taller growing shrubs.

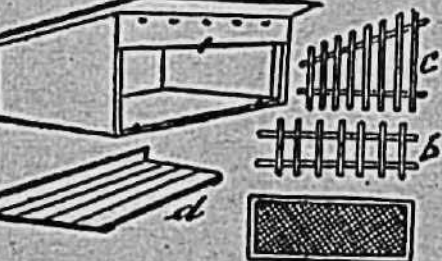

For a bed where a mass of yellow is desired, golden California poppy is useful. It must be sown where it is to bloom, as it does not transplant well. Its flowers are not adapted for cutting. For solid and back fences clumps of single and double hollyhocks in mass are good. A flower which grows nearly as high as the hollyhock is radbeckia golden glow, which produces a wealth of golden flowers good for cutting. It is a good plan to devote the space in front of one fence to dahlias and cosmos, for these are sure to please the most fastidious flower lovers. The cactus and decorative forms of the dahlia are becoming more and more popular every year. The tubers may be stored in the cellar in winter like potatoes. If there happens to be a sunny exposure in the garden, plant a few pompon chrysanthemums, which are hardy. They will give an effective display of tiny flowers in the autumn. The Drummond phlox are exceedingly pretty, slow growing annuals, exceedingly showy in mass. In warm and exposed situations they last but few weeks in bloom.

Coops for Small Chickens.

A farmer's wife writes: The coop I use, shown in sketch, is much better if made of pine. It is made in three separate pieces, the roof and bottom being removable. The roof projects over the coop on all sides, but much farther in front and back. This is to keep rain from beating in. The roof boards are nailed to two narrow pieces, which are just the length of the inside of the coop, and are placed far enough from the front and the back to fit inside the coop. The cracks are battened.

The floor, 4, is made to slip in at the back like a drawer. This coop is very easily sunned and cleaned on account of the removable floor and roof. The 8-inch board at the top in front has holes bored in for ventilation. A wooden button on top board and a 2-inch strip at the bottom holds on the frame of wire screen which is used stormy days when the chicks are too young to run out, and on warm nights. At other times a slatted wooden front, 5, is used.

I make this coop in two sizes—a single and a double.

DETAILS OF A CHICKEN COOP.

gle coop 20 inches square, 24 inches high in front and 10 inches in the back, and a double coop is 30 inches long and 24 inches wide. A removable lath partition, c, divides it.

Fertilizing an Orchard.

Nothing is better for fertilizing an orchard than raw bone meal and potash, says an expert orchardist. The bone will have nitrogen enough for the orchard in soil, and the phosphoric acid will become soluble by degrees as the trees need it. The principal need of your sandy soil in apples is potash, for not only is such a soil usually deficient in potash, but apples take a large amount from the soil. We would apply 400 pounds per acre, mixed 350 pounds of the bone meal and fifty pounds of muriate of potash. Then mow the orchard and use the cut grass as a mulch for the trees. In short, keep the orchard for apples alone, and devote all that grows on the land to the trees.

Too Free Use of Lime.

There is certainly such a thing as using lime too freely both in the matter of quantity and of frequency. As a rule sour soils need lime, but it does not follow that all acidity of the soil is due to lack of lime, for, as is well known, there are certain minerals in the soil in some locations which will, apparently, make it sour, and all the lime in the world will not overcome the effect. Then, too, certain plants contain more or less lime, many of them sufficient for their own use—clover is one of these, but oftentimes more lime is required in the soil not only to correct any acidity which may exist, but to set free some element in the soil that would otherwise remain inactive. We

STOP, WOMEN!

AND CONSIDER THE ALL-IMPORTANT FACT

That in addressing Mrs. Pinkham you are confiding your private life to a woman—a woman whose experience with women's diseases covers a great many years.

Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, and for many years and for many years, under her direction, and since her decease, she has been advising sick women free of charge.

Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing full well that they ought to have immediate assistance, but a natural modesty impels them to shrink from exposing themselves to the questions and probable examinations of even their family physician. It is unnecessary. Without money or price you can consult a woman whose knowledge from actual experience is great.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation.

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established the eternal confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Out of the vast volume of experience which she has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge that will help your case. She asks nothing in return except your good-will, and advice has relieved thousands of any woman, rich or poor, a very few if she does not take advantage of generous offer of assistance.

If you are ill, don't hesitate to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, and write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice. When a medicine has been successful in restoring to health so many women, you cannot well say, without trying it, "I do not believe it will help me."

Not What He Meant.

His trials with the "American" language have afforded not a little amusement to the friends of a popular young French painter now in the United States. He has made earnest efforts to "catch on," his practice being, when he would hear a phrase of the meaning of which he was not sure, to look it up in the dictionary. When he heard a lady's costume described as "stunning," to the obvious pleasure of the wearer, he, after looking up the meaning of the word, determined to make use of it at the first opportunity. This presented itself when he chanced to meet a young lady whom he had known at the beach during the summer. They fell to recalling incidents of the bathing.

"An' ze bathing costume mademoiselle wore—oh, but eet was shocking!" he said, with his best bow, and is wondering still why the temperature suddenly dropped to freezing.

When the Eyes Grow Dim.

When a man begins to hold off his newspaper at arm's length like he was afraid it would bite him it is a sign that he has started down the western slope and that the afternoon sun is shining in his eyes.—Jewell (Knox) publican.

Converted.

She—Do you think I'm living a sin-free life?

He—You bet I do! I tried living a double life and got two years in jail—Detroit Free Press.

A BUSY WOMAN

Can Do the Work of 3 or 4 if Well Fed.

An energetic young woman living just outside of New York writes:

"I am at present doing all the housework of a dairy farm, caring for 2 children, a vegetable and flower garden, a large number of fowls, besides managing an extensive exchange business through the mails and pursuing my regular avocation as a writer for several newspapers and magazines (designing fancy work for the latter) and all the energy and ability to do this I owe to Grape-Nuts food."

"It was not always so, and a year ago when the shock of my nursing baby's death utterly prostrated me and deranged my stomach and nerves so that I could not assimilate as much as a mouthful of solid food, and was in even worse condition mentally, he would have been a rash prophet who would have predicted that it ever would be so."

"Prior to this great grief I had suffered for years with impaired digestion, insomnia, agonizing cramps in the stomach, pain in the side, constipation, and other bowel derangements, all these were familiar to my daily life. Medicines gave me no relief—nothing did, until a few months ago, at a friend's suggestion, I began to use Grape-Nuts food, and subsequently gave up coffee entirely and adopted Postum Food Coffee at all my meals."

"To-day I am free from all the troubles I have enumerated. My digestion is simply perfect. I assimilate my food without the least distress, enjoy sweet restful sleep, and have a buoyant feeling of pleasure in my varied work. In fact, I am a new woman, entirely made over, and I repeat, I owe it all to Grape-Nuts and Postum Food Coffee. Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich."

There's a reason. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in package.

Who Had Better Right?

Coningsby Disraeli, M. P., having, on a New Year's card to his constituents, used the emblem of a crown, Lord Knollys wrote that "the king deprecates the introduction of his name, or of emblems appertaining to him, in political posters or placards." Instead of kissing the rod, Mr. Disraeli claims that he has a perfect right to use the emblem.

"I have," he says, "a perfect right to put that crown on my card, seeing that it was my great ancestor who put an imperial crown on the throne." It is possible that the next communication he receives from the king's private secretary may be less moderate in tone.—London Star.

Human blood Marks.

A tale of horror was told by marks of human blood in the home of J. W. Williams, a well known merchant of Bae, Ky. He writes: Twenty years ago I had severe hemorrhages of the lungs, and was near death when I began taking Dr. Kings New Discovery. It completely cured me and I have remained well ever since. It cures hemorrhages, chronic coughs, settled colds and bronchitis and is the only known cure for weak lungs. Every bottle guaranteed by J. H. Swan, druggist. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

Not a Serious Offense.

A Frenchman of Caen entered a police court the other day with a saucepan full of tripe, which he said his wife had sprinkled with corrosive sublimate to poison him. The worthy woman admitted the deed, but denied the motive. Her purpose was to make her spouse a little sick, so that he might experience the tenderness of her nursing. Now, in the American law, the use of poison in the household arts would be regarded with gravity, but the French law has its human side, and gives every one a sort of sporting chance. It was decided that, as the mercury had not been eaten, no crime had been committed.

NESS
Foley's Kidney cure if taken in time affords security from all bladder and kidney trouble. Sold by J. H. Swan.

Evil in Lack of Self-Control.
Men and women often say they can't govern themselves; that is simply admitting they have defects of character which are their masters. They ought to make effort and see if they are not mistaken. The worst effects of lack of self control are on the health. It allows every kind of bad habit in eating, drinking, dressing, sleeping, to gain possession of the person, and the result is a weak instead of a strong character.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased. Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE

Cures Kidney and Bladder Diseases in Every Form—Many People Have Kidney Trouble and Do Not Know It.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

It is the function of the kidneys to filter and purify the blood which is constantly passing through them.

When the kidneys are out of order the other organs are affected immediately and you may have symptoms of heart trouble, stomach and liver trouble, and other ailments, which are all owing to the kidneys being weak and out of order.

If you are sick Foley's Kidney Cure will strengthen and build up the worn out tissues of the kidneys so they will act properly and the symptoms of weakness, heart, stomach and liver trouble will disappear and you will be restored to perfect health.

How to Tell if You Have Kidney Trouble.

You can easily determine if your kidneys are out of order by setting aside for 24 hours a bottle of the urine passed upon arising. If upon examination it is cloudy or milky or has a brick-dust sediment or small particles float about in it, your kidneys are diseased and Foley's Kidney Cure should be taken at once.

Foley's Kidney Cure is pleasant to take and acts directly upon the parts affected and you begin to feel better at once.

It corrects slight disorders in a few days and it has cured many obstinate cases after other treatment had failed.

Doctors Said He Would Not Live.

Peter Frey, of Woodruff, Pa., writes: "After doctoring for two years with the best physicians in Waynesburg, and still getting worse, the doctors advised me to get a new business to attend to I had better attend to it at once, as I could not possibly live another month, as there was no cure for me. Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended to me by a friend, and I immediately sent my son to the store for it and after taking three bottles I began to get better and continued to improve until I was entirely well."

Two Sizes, 50c and $1.00.
SOLD AND RECOMMENDED BY JAMES H. SWAN

Chronic Bronchitis Cured.

"For ten years I had chronic bronchitis so bad that at times I could not speak above a whisper," writes Mr. Joseph Coffman, of Montmorenci, Ind. I tried all remedies available but with no success. Fortunately my employer suggested that I try Foley's Honey and Tar. Its effect was almost miraculous, and I am now cured of the disease. On my recommendation many people have used Foley's Honey and Tar and always with satisfaction. Sold by J. H. Swan.

Not That Kind.

Cyrus had finished his story of the wonderful memory of an elephant and remarked that he himself could remember the name of every soldier in his army.

"But understand," he said, with a slight flush, "I am not one of those people who never forget a face."

Fearful lest they did not attach enough importance to the remark, he scanned their faces to see if they had heard him or had been thinking and chuckling over the stories they were going to tell when their turns came.—Detroit Tribune.

Devils Island Torture.

Is no worse than the terrible case of piles that afflicted me ten years. Then I was advised to apply Bucklin's Arnica Salve, and less than a box permanently cured me, writes L. S. Napier, of Rugles, Ky. Heals all wounds, burns and sores like magic. 25 cents at Swans drug store.

Discretion.

"Were you ever a reformer?" "Oh, yes," answered Senator Borghum. "But I found that being a reformer is like a great many other things. Success depends on knowing just when to quit."—Washington Star.

"Little New York" Sports.

Grand opera, vaudeville, melodrama and heavy drama, circuses, church societies, baseball games, newspaper fights and cock fights are the order of the day in "Little New York," otherwise known as Manila, P. I.

If you ever bought a box of Witch Hazel Salve, that failed to give satisfaction the chances are that it did not have the name, "E. C. DeWitt & Co." printed on the wrapper and pressed in the box. The original DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve never fails to give satisfaction, for burns, sores, boils, tetter, cracked hands etc. For blind bleeding itching and protruding piles it affords almost immediate relief. It stops the pain. Sold by J. H. Swan.

The great murder case which had occupied so many days of the court's more or less valuable time was at an end, and the jury of women had retired to consider their verdict, which was undoubtedly hastened by the facts that the members had been kept away from the bargain counters by their duties and that on the day when the case was given into their hands, a particularly attractive mark-down sale was announced by the morning papers.

They had been in the jury room but a few minutes when the forewoman announced that a verdict had been reached. The jury marched out and when the usual questions were about to be asked by the clerk, the forewoman anticipated all that by declaring in a firm voice: "We find that the prisoner at the bar is no gentleman."—New York Press.

THIS ANNIVERSARY SALE WILL SURPASS ALL OUR EFFORTS AND PREVIOUS sales for the reason that it will commemorate our first year in business and we are bound to make it a veritable bargain festival which no woman can resist to join. It will be a temptation, because of the sterling values and hitherto unheard of low prices on seasonable goods. Right at the beginning of the spring season when old mother nature is donning her new garb and tossing out for her spring and summer campaign, all womankind yearns to join her and blossom forth in all her loveliness, which all must confess is greatly enhanced by proper garb, as is a beautiful play with appropriate settings. All will confess who have visited this great store that the acme of perfection in beautiful garments has been reached in the magnificent variety, style and individuality of the gorgeous array of spring and summer goods that have been provided for your approval. Side by side with the most elaborate creations will be found the simpler and more inexpensive goods provided to fit the demands of the most modest purse. If ever a dollar was known to do double duty, it will be at this sale. A careful scrutiny of the prices quoted is requested, but bear in mind that even in this liberal space, but comparatively few illustrations and prices can be shown.

Alteration Department

The alteration department in this store is in charge of a most skillful tailor, and all alterations are made promptly and without charge, insuring a perfect fit in every instance. During our Anniversary Sale ample help will be provided in this department, so that in nine cases out of ten, if an alteration is needed, it can be made before you leave the store, but in case it is not possible to do this we will pay all forwarding charges on packages sent to out-of-town customers, and deliver by messenger to those residing in Waukegan. The prompt and excellent service in this department will prove a source of great satisfaction, as it will be in striking contrast to service accorded you elsewhere.

THIS, OUR FIRST YEAR IN BUSINESS IN WAUKEGAN, HAS BEEN ONE OF glorious achievements, not only in the success which has crowned our efforts as a firm, but in the well-nigh unbelievable savings we have been able to make, not only for the ladies of Waukegan and Lake county, but even of Kenosha, that thriving city of our sister state. An unwavering policy of liberality has characterized all our dealings with the people, and whenever we have picked up rare bargains in the eastern markets we have passed them on to our patrons without profiting ourselves by their normal value. These enormous savings have attracted the attention of the women folks of this section and given them an unvarying confidence in this store that has made each month of the year more successful than its predecessor and enabled us through continuously augmented trade to constantly sell on smaller and smaller margins. WE CHALLENGE CONTRADICTION OF THE STATEMENT THAT WE HAVE REDUCED THE COST OF DRESSING FOR WOMEN AN AVERAGE OF 20 PER CENT. It is not by argument but by achievement that we desire to convince—'deeds, not words.' On Purchases of $5 and Over Car Fare will be Refunded to Out-of-town Customers.

Alteration Department

The alteration department in this store is in charge of a most skillful tailor, and all alterations are made promptly and without charge, insuring a perfect fit in every instance. During our Anniversary Sale ample help will be provided in this department, so that in nine cases out of ten, if an alteration is needed, it can be made before you leave the store, but in case it is not possible to do this we will pay all forwarding charges on packages sent to out-of-town customers, and deliver by messenger to those residing in Waukegan. The prompt and excellent service in this department will prove a source of great satisfaction, as it will be in striking contrast to service accorded you elsewhere.

THIS, OUR FIRST YEAR IN BUSINESS IN WAUKEGAN, HAS BEEN ONE OF glorious achievements, not only in the success which has crowned our efforts as a firm, but in the well-nigh unbelievable savings we have been able to make, not only for the ladies of Waukegan and Lake county, but even of Kenosha, that thriving city of our sister state. An unwavering policy of liberality has characterized all our dealings with the people, and whenever we have picked up rare bargains in the eastern markets we have passed them on to our patrons without profiting ourselves by their normal value. These enormous savings have attracted the attention of the women folks of this section and given them an unvarying confidence in this store that has made each month of the year more successful than its predecessor and enabled us through continuously augmented trade to constantly sell on smaller and smaller margins. WE CHALLENGE CONTRADICTION OF THE STATEMENT THAT WE HAVE REDUCED THE COST OF DRESSING FOR WOMEN AN AVERAGE OF 20 PER CENT. It is not by argument but by achievement that we desire to convince—deeds, not words. On Purchases of $5 and Over Car Fare will be Refunded to Out-of-town Customers.

THE ANTIOCH NEWS.

ANTIOCH, ILLINOIS.

A REPUBLICAN NEWSPAPER.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
A. B. JOHNSON, - Publisher
By Mail, One Dollar Per Year, in Advance.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Russian elections are probably the reflex action of what happened in this country in 1904.

Mr. Carnegie says that he never had any idea of dying poor. Neither had any body else that he had.

And now the children of billionaires are to be left facing a cold, cruel world with a paltry million apiece.

The next naval war is going to be a ghastly affair if the record of our warships in peace time is any criterion.

It may be some satisfaction to remember that our Senate was always more of a deliberative than a legislative body.

Jon Perdicaris has made almost enough out of his books and lectures to reimburse for that ransom that he did not pay to Rasuli.

It ought to be noted that the membership of the new Anti-Graft in Chicago is recruited altogether from the members of the minority.

Dr. Dowis will not languish for want of a job. If he can not break back into Zion he can easily get elected as president of the Hot Air Club.

That Massachusetts chemist who discovered a compound twenty times as strong as dynamite has not yet recovered sufficient to tell what it was made of.

If it is true that Senator Lodge's secretary accepted a campaign check for $250 it is no wonder he got into trouble with that Boston Grand jury. They believe in sticking to union rules.

The most remarkable thing about the President's speech last Saturday is the hesitancy that the most public men display in discussing it. Truly it was a pretty startling speech for the senate to listen to. They sat through the remarks on the Muck Rake and applauded loudly. The President was then hitting some of the writers who have stirred up trouble in the Senate and elsewhere both for the just and the unjust. But when it came to the question of an income and inheritance tax the trained politicians scented danger, afar off maybe, but danger none the less and they not only sat dead still but, they have been dodging the ubiquitous interviewer every since. The usual excuse they make is that they have not yet had time to thoroughly look into the speech and decide what it all about. Now that speech needs very little going into to decide as to its meaning. It is a frank statement that many of the private fortunes of this country have grown so huge that the "interests" they represent are so entrenched that it is rapidly becoming a question whether the moneyed men shall control legislation or whether legislation shall control them. Had the great moneyed interests been content to submit themselves to the law and had they shown any disposition to play fair, it would have been hard to reproach any man for reaping the fruits of his industry. But there is no need to resort to the muck rake to show that they have not played fair. They have undertaken to set themselves above the law and they have invited strife between capital and labor. They have not proved themselves good citizens in many cases and the President's speech points out the simplest way to curb them. Perhaps it is radical, revolutionary, socialist, call it what you will to suggest curbing them at all. But that is the plain meaning of the President's speech and it is going to be the utterance that will keep people thinking and talking all through the next presidential campaign. Political leaders who choose may decline to discuss it. But they will have to reckon with it in all subsequent elections. There is nothing occult and hidden in it. It is just the plain proposition, "Shall we so control the vast accumulation of wealth in this country so that they can no longer menace the general well being of the nation?" The rate bill has been a great national problem up to date but looks as though it would soon have to take a place as second page reading matter in the shadow of the larger problem that has been presented for the public discussion.

His Bluff Was Good.

"But," protested the millionaire father, "you are hardly the man I would wish for a son-in-law."
"I'm not looking for a job as son-in-law. If any one should ask you," rejoined the poor but seemingly honest young man, "I propose to do the honest act for Mayme and myself."
Whereupon the father was taken off his guard and neglected to call the young man's bluff.

GEORGE B. STEPHENS.

George Stephens, candidate for the republican nomination for treasurer, subject to the will of the coming republican primaries, which take place April 28, is a native born Illinoisian. He was born at Homer, Will county, November 15, 1848, and since 1893 has always lived in Lake county.

Mr. Stephens served several terms as president of the Millburn Mutual Fire Insurance Co., which was organized in 1855 and which is a strong local insurance concern.

He received his education in Lake county schools and since 1871 has been engaged in farming in Newport township. He has always been prominent in republican politics and served three terms on the board of supervisors, being elected chairman of that organization twice, serving as well as chairman of the Lake county board of review.

Don't tie a cough or a cold up in the system by taking a remedy that binds the bowels. Take Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar. It is different from all other cough syrups. It is better. It opens the bowels and expels all cold from the system relieves coughs, colds, croup, whooping coughs, etc. An ideal remedy for young and old. Children like it. Sold by J. H. Swan.

stinging retort Deserved.

Corporal James Tanner, commander in chief of the G. A. R., was condemning those who appear to regard the national uniform as a disgrace—those who object to seeing non-commissioned soldiers or sailors in the parades of a theater or the restaurant of a fashionable hotel.
"Such people," said the veteran, "make me think of a recruiting sergeant whom I used to know in Richmondville—a true patriot."
"This sergeant at the beginning of the civil war urged a rich man's son to enlist."
"Come on, Hank," he said earnestly. "Come on and join the — New Yorks."
"The rich man's son sneered."
"Join the New Yorks!" he cried. "Not if I'd rather enter a lunatic asylum than the — New Yorks."
"Well," said the sergeant, "no doubt you'd feel more at home there."

A Chattanooga Druggists Statement.

Robt J. Miller, proprietor of the Red House Drug Store of Chattanooga, Tenn., writes: "There is more merit in Foley's Honey and Tar than in any other cough syrup. The calls for it multiply wonderfully and we sell more of it than all other cough syrups combined. Sold by J. H. Swan."

Miser Left Much Money.

William S. Cook, the oldest initiated Odd Fellow in California, died recently, apparently in great poverty, and his lodge buried him. He was even in arrears for several months' rent for a shabby room where he had lodged for thirty years. The public administrator's search of safe deposit vaults, however, revealed that Cook was a miser, who left more than $100,000 in bonds and other securities. His only relative is a brother in Virginia.

Take Advantage of Freedom.

It is stated that ten persons have left the orthodox church of Russia and united with the Swedish Lutheran St. Catherine's Congregation in St. Petersburg. When the new members were received by the pastor of the congregation, the church was filled to its utmost capacity. These ten persons were the first who took advantage of the czar's late ukase giving religious freedom.

Foley's Honey and Tar contains no opiates, and will not constipate like nearly all other cough medicines. Refuse substitutes. Sold by J. H. Swan.

Superstitious "Bridge" Players.

Patience is largely played nowadays in England without any reference to gambling. Many bridge players, and especially women, make a point of testing their luck at a solitary game of patience before embarking in a rubber of bridge. If the patience "comes out," it is a sign that they will hold "no trumps at bridge"; if it falls to "come out," spade hands are indicated, and bridge is eschewed for that particular day.

Dreadful Attack of Whooping Cough.

Mrs. Ellen Harrison of 300 Park Ave., Kansas City, Mo., writes as follows: "Our two children had a severe attack of whooping cough, one of them in the paroxysm of coughing would often faint and bleed at the nose. We tried everything we heard of without getting relief. We then called in our family doctor who prescribed Foley's Honey and Tar. With the very first dose they began to improve and we feel that it has saved their lives. Refuse substitutes. Sold by J. H. Swan."

statesmen and the Bible.

"Have you a Bible in your committee room?" asked Col. Worthington of Chairman Burrows at the Smoot hearing.
"No," replied Senator Burrows, "we seem to be short of Bibles."
"I have one in my committee room," said Senator Dillingham. "I always keep a Bible there."
"Oh, yes," said Senator Knox, "you took my old committee room, and I left a Bible there when I moved."

ANNOUNCEMENT.

To the Republican Voters of Lake County.

After supporting and contributing to the success of the Republican party, for the past thirty years and never having held a County office, I feel I can consistently ask the Republican voters for their support of County Judge.

Fifteen years of active practice at the Lake county bar, leads me to believe that the duties of the office of County Judge require the entire time of the Court; and if elected to that position, I will devote my whole time to the office and the best interests of the people of Lake county.

Your support will be most thankfully received.

EDWARD J. HEYDECKER.

Adjudication Notice.

Public notice is hereby given that the subscriber, administrator of the estate of Joseph Smith, deceased, will attend the County Court of Lake County, at a term thereof to be held at the Court House in Waukegan, in said county, on the first Monday of June, next, 1906, when and where all persons having claims against said estate are notified and requested to present the same to said court for adjudication.

DAVID M. WHITE, Administrator.

Waukegan, Ill., April 6, 1906.

Living indoors so much during the winter months creates a sort of a stuff, want-of-ozone condition in the blood and system generally. Clean up and get ready for spring. Take a few Early Risers. These famous little pills cleanse the liver stomach and bowels and give the blood a chance to purify itself. They relieve head ache, sallow complexion, etc. Sold by J. H. Swan.

Coughing Uses Up Energy.

Coughing four times an hour for ten hours, says a mathematically inclined medical sharp, results in an expenditure of energy which requires for its regeneration the nourishment represented by the food value of three eggs or two glasses of milk. As a harassing cough is usually accompanied by digestive troubles, it frequently follows that the patient is unable to digest sufficient food for his bodily needs. Consequently this, among other reasons, justifies the advice often given by physicians to restrain as much as possible the tendency to cough.

Regular Exercise Preserved Youth.

Carl Pfleging, a member of the Socialist turnverein of Cleveland, is 70 years old, but is as straight and vigorous as when he landed in this country forty years ago. In general appearance he looks to be considerably on the near side of the half-century mark. Mr. Pfleging is a regular participant in the exercises of the Socialist verelin and attributes his good health and fine condition to the exercise so secured.

School Children Drink Spirits.

Out of the forty-nine school children in the lowest class at Nordhausen, Germany, the medical officer reports that thirty-eight had drunk wine, forty spirits and all more or less beer; while out of a class of twenty-eight girls sixteen confessed to having been drunk.

Throat Coughs

A tickling in the throat; hoarseness at times; a deep breath irritates it;—these are features of a throat cough. They're very deceptive and a cough mixture won't cure them. You want something that will heal the inflamed membranes, enrich the blood and tone up the system.

Scott's Emulsion

is just such a remedy. It has wonderful healing and nourishing power. Removes the cause of the cough and the whole system is given new strength and vigor.

Walter and Frank Taylor of Waukegan were over Sunday visitors with Antioch relatives.

Mrs. Frieze and family have moved from the north end of town to one of the houses.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Somerville visited with friends in Chicago the latter part of last week.

Chas. Powles opened his new meat market on Lake Street on Tuesday morning of this week.

County Superintendent of Schools F. N. Gaggin was transacting business in Antioch on Wednesday.

David Lightner left last week for Rock Rapids, Iowa, where he expects to remain during the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Will VanPatten are the parents of a baby boy who arrived at their home on Monday morning.

Mrs. S. F. Grice returned home on Monday from Monroe, Wis., where she has been visiting for some time.

Mrs. Webb of Spring Prairie, Wis., was the guest of her sister, Mrs. N. K. Seymour the latter part of last week.

On Wednesday evening the Antioch Chapter, O. E. S., assisted in the organization of a new chapter at Millburn.

A number of the members of the Junior League of this place attended the convention at Grayslake on Saturday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Powles and children spent a couple of days the latter part of last week with relatives at Union Grove, Wis.

Mrs. Mary Morley and daughter, Susan, returned home on Friday last, from Doniphan, Mo., where they have spent the past winter.

Mrs. Andrew Lynch went to Fond du Lac, Wis., on Wednesday of last week, being called there by the serious illness of her sister.

The third quarterly conference for this year will be held Friday evening in lecture room of the M. E. church at 7:30 P. M. E. Gady will be present.

Tony Zellniger of Chicago, is raising and building an addition to his house on his farm, formerly owned by O. J. Hill, northeast of town.

The Ladies Aid of the M. E. church will hold their next regular meeting in the church basement on Wednesday afternoon May 2. Everybody welcome. Supper 10 cents. Mrs. L. M. Gribb, president.

The Woodmen and Royal Neighbors of Antioch have just purchased three new alters. They were made by J. L. Hughes, of Lake Villa, are very pretty and will add much to the appearance of the camp room.

At the school election held at the school house on Saturday evening, J. C. James, Jr., was elected to serve as director for a term of three years, by a large majority, there being 105 votes cast out of which he received 92.

On Saturday morning of last week, Mrs. Overton received a telegram from her son Burris, who was in San Francisco at the time of the great disaster, telling her of his safety. His many friends are indeed glad to learn that he escaped without injury.

Lee Middendorff who has been working at Waukegan the past winter has left that place and after spending this week with relatives and friends in this vicinity will go to Grayslake, where he has a position as barber.

On Thursday of last week Wm. Tiffany had a bonfire that was a little beyond his expectations. While burning rubbish in the back yard in some way a strawstack caught fire and it was with difficulty that the blaze was kept from spreading to the barn.

On Sunday evening a collection for the San Francisco sufferers was taken up at the M. E. church and on Monday morning a committee solicited funds from the citizens and as a result of their efforts the sum of $129 was realized. This speaks well for the generosity of the Antioch people, and had the committee been given more time a much larger sum could undoubtedly have been raised.

The average housewife is now beginning to make life a burden to the other inmates of the household. She will tie a rag around her head and wade into the dirt in a way that will make your head swim. She will tear up the carpets, empty the cupboards, look sour when you show up for dinner and slam and bang things around to the queen's taste, and if you don't like it take your meals somewhere else. Springtime is an unhappy event when house cleaning is on.

Two women sat together in a car, "how many children have you?" asked one, "twenty-two how many have you?" Thirty-one. With a look of amazement, a woman next to them said, "Did I understand you to say that one has twenty-two children and the other thirty-one? Why, you don't look more than twenty-five yourselves." We are school teachers madam.

The famous Jefferson version of "Rip Van Winkle" will be presented at Antioch on April 30, under canvas. Big company of twenty people, with all special scenery, calcium light effects, six vaudeville artists, and a superb concert band and an operatic orchestra. This is the event of the season and the management positively guarantees an excellent production and that the entire scenic outfit will be used, as two complete sets are carried, one for large and one for small stages.

at noon. Prices popular. Tents erected on Simons lot.

The postoffice department has decided that children going to and from school shall not be allowed to get their parents' mail, so do not blame the postmaster if your children are refused the mail. The postoffice habit among children has become a nuisance both to the public and the postmaster and the department has done wisely in making this decision. This has been one of postmaster Williams' greatest trials as the children go to and from school. We hope this will be observed and not other means need be used to enforce this law.

Not until one leaves home does he really appreciate his home paper. Distance lends enchantment is truly proven in this case. When a man pulls up stakes and shakes the dust at his old home from his shoes to seek pastures new he naturally has a hankering to know what is going on in his old home. It is then he appreciates the home paper that had always made weekly visits to his home, but which he had heretofore looked upon as a mere circumstance in the whirl-pool of life. Its weekly visits to those who are abroad are like a spring shower upon the parched fields. The movements and actions of those we had left behind is ever of interest and we are delighted in reading about our one time neighbors. Truly the home paper is not really appreciated until we get where it is hard to get.

It wasn't a Missouri editor but a printer's devil who was going through his first experience on "making up" forms. The paper was late the boy got the galley mixed. The first part of the obituary notice of pecunious citizen had been dumped in the forms, and the next handful of type came off of a galley describing a recent fire. It read like this: "The pall bearers lowered the body to the grave and as it was consigned to the flames there were few if any regrets, for the old wreck had been an eyesore to the town for years. Of course there was individual loss, but that was fully covered by insurance." The widow thinks the editor wrote the obituary that way because the lamented partner of her joys and sorrows owed him five years subscription.

On Saturday evening of last week the members of Lotus Camp, M. W. A., entertained the members of Olson Camp, R. N. A., together with their husbands and sweethearts. A fine program consisting of songs and recitations was given, then by request the Royal Neighbors gave their drill, and the Woodmen gave an exhibition of their floor work which was certainly fine and was much appreciated by the audience. At the conclusion of the program some time was spent in social converse, then without the aid of the feminine portion of the audience the gentlemen served the lunch in a very creditable manner. Altogether a very pleasant evening was spent and was especially enjoyed by the ladies who thoroughly appreciate the efforts that were made for their entertainment, and all join in saying that the gentlemen have certainly proved themselves to be model entertainers.
